

Resources Suggested by Jean-Pierre Plé

Sam Abell

The Photographic Life

George Barr

From Camera to Computer

Take Your Photography to the Next Level

Henri Cartier-Bresson

The mind's eye

Alain Briot

Mastering Landscape Photography

Mastering Photographic Composition, Creativity, and Personal Style

Molly Bang

Picture This: How Pictures Work

Bruce Barnbaum

The Art of Photography

The Essence of Photography

Brené Brown (Her TED talk is one of the most visited by the TED program)

The Gifts of Imperfection

Daring Greatly

Mihaly Csikszentmihalyi

Flow: the psychology of optimal experience

Creativity: the psychology of discovery and invention

David DuChemin (also offers a blog)

The Soul of the Camera

Photographically Speaking

The Visual Toolbox

Julie DuBose

Effortless Beauty

André Gallant

Inspiration

Dreamscapes

Expressionism

Andy Karr and Michael Wood

The Practice of Contemplative Photography

Torsten Andreas Hoffman

Photography as Meditation

Julieanne Kost

Passenger Seat

Ellen Langer

On Becoming an Artist

Mindfulness

Charles Needle

Impressionistic Photography

Kim Manley Ort

Adventures in Seeing

Offers online workshops and blog

Freeman Patterson

Photography and the Art of Seeing

Photographing the World Around You

Freeman Patterson and André Gallant

Photo Impressionism

Maria Popova

Brain Pickings (<https://www.brainpickings.org>) – a weekly newsletter. The best way I describe this resource is “book reports for adults” – it is a wonderful tool to expand your mind.

Glenn Randall

The Art, Science, and Craft of Great Landscape Photography

Robert and Michele Root-Berstein

Sparks of Genius: the 13 thinking tools of the world's most creative people

Tony Sweet

Fine Art Nature Photography

Guy Tal

More Than a Rock

Krista Tippet

On Being (<https://onbeing.org/>) - a weekly radio program on NPR. The best way to describe the program is that it is about the big questions of life. Those interviewed include musicians, scientists, medical doctors, theologians, poets, contemporary big thinkers, etc. Via this program I learned about Ellen Langer, Brene Brown and a multitude of others.

David Ward

Landscape Within

Val Williams

When Photography Really Works

Howard Zehr

The Little Book of Contemplative Photography